Growing family

This year we celebrated the arrival of Liz and Andrew's second daughter Mia, a beautiful little sister for Savannah. To continue to provide the best service possible, next year we will be welcoming new additions to our clinical and administration staff – we will keep you all posted! We are so excited to see our team and families growing.

Research and development

Research suggests that hearing aid use can reverse some undesirable effects of hearing loss on quality of life. Uncorrected hearing loss reduces the ability to understand speech (especially in difficult environments), detect and identify sounds and where they are coming from. Studies indicate a connection between uncorrected hearing losses and reduced cognitive function. Data also show the amount of time a hearing aid is worn can have a big impact on how successful a hearing aid fitting is. How long it takes to acclimatise or adapt to a new hearing aid is different for everyone however it is recommended that new hearing aids be worn for at least 8-10 hours per day (even in quiet) to help this process of 'retraining' your brain and keeping it active.

New Ventures – Cochlear Services

We were delighted to be contacted by Cochlear Ltd. earlier this year, to begin to provide some local services for their patients (the first time this has been offered in Albury). As the push for rural services for cochlear implant candidates and recipients gains momentum, we hope that our ability to offer these services will only increase. With more specialised training to come in 2017, we will keep you informed of this exciting avenue of our service!

Student Placements

This year we took on a number of audiology students. Chantel, Emma and Kate were a delight to teach. We are passionate about keeping services in our area and hope that by taking on students and helping them in their studies, we can encourage new Practitioners to choose to live and practice in our beautiful region. Thank you for supporting us and allowing these students to participate in your appointments.
